This is a dangerous point of navigation, which is not indicated by any light. The current of the Gulf Stream sweeps in directly upon the reef, which presents a perpendicular face or wall of rock, only a few hundred yards outside of which the Gulf is almost inhomless, and it is a very easy thing for even the most prudent navigator, with his lead line constantly going, to find himself suddenly on the rocks.

For the information of mariners, the collector of the port of Key West gave, in 1830, the following schedule of the situa-tion of the light houses along the Florida shore, under his superintendence:—
Cape Florida Light, stationary—Was situated on the south point of Key Biscayne, about 400 yards from the beach. The light might have been considered 70 feet above the level of the sea, and distant about seven miles from the Gulf Stream.

It is easily distinguished, as two distinct lights are shown, which can generally be seen at the distance of 12 miles. Its object is 10 wars vessels from the dangerous rocks and shoals near which it is placed.

Rey West Light—Stands on the southwest point of the island of Key West, in lat 24 25 N, lon 32 04 W; was erected for the purpose of guiding vessels when entering the harbor, the directions for which are as follows: Bring the light to bear NNW, and the Sand Key light to bear WSW, and you cross the reef in about five fathoms water; run for Key West light, until within two miles, then steer NW, until you open Viamming's Key, which is a Mangrove island in the northern part of the harbor, and then run for it. The best anchorage is the upper part of the harbor. Height of the light house from the level of the sea. Si feet 6 inches. Light stationary.

Sand Key Light—Revolving once in 51 seconds, is the best light'on the coast; SW by S, 35, miles from Key West light. It is situated directly on the reef. The light is 70 feet above the sea.

Tortugas Light—Stationary, on one of the dry Tortugas islands, near the western extremity of the reef, in lat 21 31 N. North West Passage—A light boat has been stationed in the N W Passage, which conducts from the harbor to the Gulf of Mexico. The navigator who is disposed to avail himself of Mexico. The navigator who is disposed to avail himself of this light, may, in coming through the Gulf from the west, enter by this passage, and proceed through the sharbor of Key West, and go out again into the Gulf, by the S W Pass, near Sand Key light, and by taking this course, avoid the necessity, particularly in case of head winds, in going round the dry Tortugas, and save a very considerable distance. In going up the Gulf on the other hand, the same rout may be taken, catering by the Sand Key light, and goint out by the N W Passage. There are pitots at Key West, whose assistance may be had by making signals for them.

roughly squeezed, a small worm-like substance protrades, having a black head. The supposition, however, that they are in reality worms, is erroneous. These spots are occasioned by an undue accumulation of the fatty matter which is reted from the blood for the purpose of lubricating the skin, and this overplus chokes up the pores and concretes. The dust floating in the air adheres to this greasy substance, and causes the black speck. This gives the face a dirty and disgusting appearance, and the remedy of squeezing, so universally resorted to, is not only painful, but frequently useless. Very often the over distension of the pores causes inflammation and painful pimples.

The only certain remedy for this affection is to wash the face with warm water, and GOURAUD'S Itajian Medicated Soap, which is also infallible in the removal of tan, freckles, sallowness, reduces, pustules, ringworm, morphew, salt theum, chaps, cracks, chafes, old sores, &c. Consacrir, Sept. 22, 1845.

Dr. Townsend—To all whom this may coocen:—This is to certify that my wife used one bottle of your Baraparilla, previous to her confinement, under the most alarming and delicate circumstances, being troubled with the droppy, swelling of the feet, nervous affections, and very much debistated, with my permission, and the recommendation of those who had used it, she was induced to try, with little or no faith, and suffice it to say, the medicine had the happy, desired effect, not only in the hours of confinement, but after the expiration of once week of its use, the dropps and nervous affection gave way to an astonishing degree, and her health is now better than it had been for a long time previous.

ASTONISHING CURE OF THE SPINAL COM-

ASTONISHING CURE OF THE SPINAL COMPLAINT.

JERREY CITY, March 27, 1846.

Dr. Townsend—Dear Sir: The great beneaft that i have derived, through the blessings of frovidence, in taking your valuable medicine, will be a sufficient apology, I am convinced, for addressing you, which I should not presume to do under ordinary circumstances, or if my case was not one of unusual character. Hoping I may be of some service to you, who have been so much to me, and to others who may be suffering as I have been, I felt it a duty to send you the following account of the singular efficacy of your Sersaparileria my case. I had been very much out of health for the last two years; about six mouths since several physicians pronounced my disease the spinal complaint, since which time I have suffered more than I can describe. About form mouths ago, my back and shoulders became deformed, and the joints were drawn out of their places, and I suffered terribly day and night. One of my shoulders was forced full two inches lower than the other, and every joint in my back was affected. I continued to get worse, although my friends resorted to every means in their power to arrest it, but without success. Doly about our mouth since I commenced taking your Saraparille, and have now requised my former appearance and usual health. I am fully aware that this account is so singular as to appear incredible, and I have requested some friends to add a line at the bottom for the benefit of any one who may be disposed to doubt the correctness of the asterment.

Yours, with great respect, &c.
